The objective of this communication is to briefly introduce the services of Sean Dercksen as a speaker, trainer & MC.

Speaker & trainer

Sean is a speaker & trainer that is blessed with the ability to energise others through his results based talks. Based in Johannesburg Sean travels nationally, presenting his tips & techniques to audiences eager for knowledge. Sean delivers practical sales & customer service presentations for companies that want to take action now. Audiences delight in the clear message, humorous approach & immediate take-home value Sean brings to his talks.

Sean is happy to mould his presentations to accommodate company policy, values, culture, forward strategies or a particular message one wishes to drive home. You are most welcome to contact Sean to discuss your particular needs, budget & plan moving forward.

Master of Ceremonies

Sean has also been actively involved as an MC / Master of Ceremonies for many years. He has recently incorporated a fictitious character, Jean Jacques the famous French fighter pilot, into his presentations. When Sean puts on the red fighter pilot scarf & hat (insignia), Jean Jacques comes to life, telling jokes with a French accent & driving the seminar message home. Sean has taken an ordinary product (speaker, trainer or MC) and made it extraordinary with the introduction of Jean Jacques as a unique brand.

Sean believes in the ability to transfer energy through the gift of communication & education. Any business done with Sean will be based on serious credible values & respect.

Thank you for your time and we wish you every success in business.
